RECOMMENDED READING

CHILD PROOFING YOUR DOG by Brian Kilcommons and Sarah Wilson

(Even if you don't have children, you will probably have young visitors from time to time; also, you may have to place your dog with another family at some point. The more flexible he is, the better chance you have to place him rather than being forced to put him down.)

PAWS TO CONSIDER by Brian Kilcommons and Sarah Wilson

(Covers most breeds and makes recommendations to help you decide which one is for you.)

WESTIES FROM HEAD TO TOE by Ruth Faherty

POPULAR DOG MAGAZINE - WEST HIGHLAND WHITE TERRIER VOL. 36

<http://www.shopanimalnetwork.com/product.asp?O=206&I=211&3=474> (Because this is getting quite old, you may have to contact them and ask about this issue.)

OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS:

OBEDIENCE CLASSES

Seriously consider taking your new dog to Obedience Classes. The ability to obey obedience commands makes any dog much easier to live with and, maybe more important, a dog who has been to school and gone through practice sessions, is learning a lot about who is "alpha" (boss) in his new family. If it is clear that he is NOT alpha, your life together will be much easier. It also allows the dog to meet other dogs and other people in a controlled environment with expert help on hand.

BEHAVIORIST

A very good site for help with your dog's behavior is www.thedogspeaks.com. The owner of this site donates much time to Westie Rescue and other rescues around the country. She is the reason why many of our rescues have been able to find and keep their new homes.
